

Ishpeming Hunter, Mistaken For Deer, Dies Of Gun Wounds

(By The Associated Press)
Another hunter death boosted the human toll in Michigan's six-day-old deer hunting season to nine today.

Louis Bonetti, 63, of Ishpeming, died in Ishpeming hospital late Monday of a .32 caliber bullet wound in the stomach. Sheriff's officers said Joseph Bergeron, 59, also of Ishpeming, accidentally shot Bonetti Sunday near the Marquette-Dickinson county line. They quoted Bergeron as saying he mistook Bonetti for a deer.

The death was the first reported in the state in slightly more than 24 hours.

Drowning Clues Found

Ten hunters have died of heart attacks. At least 35 have been wounded by gunfire.

Searchers came upon a grim discovery in the Manistee river Monday.

Troopers of the Manistee state police found clothing of Mrs. Carl Henseleit, 17-year-old Muskegon bride of a month who drowned Sunday with a niece, Mary Ellen Flanagan, 9.

The young wife and the child had gone out on the river in a skiff while her husband and companions were hunting. The boat was found overturned when the men returned.

State police recovered from the river a jacket, blue jeans and a scarf which Mrs. Henseleit had worn. Officers said the garments evidently had caught in a snag and had been pulled off her body by the swift river current.

Killing Investigated

Since the gates of Tippy dam were shut to aid the search, the river level has dropped 14 inches. State police and conservation men investigated new reports of missing hunters.

Meantime, the inquiry in the Bessemer area into the mysterious death of Donald Bethuy, 29, was pushed.

Prosecutor Theodore Albert of Gogebic county went ahead with plans for lie detector tests of ten hunters, including four members of Bethuy's party.

Bethuy, an ex-marine, was found shot to death in the woods. He had been guarding carcasses of two deer. One of the deer had been dragged off.

Steel Workers To Ask Another Wage Increase

PITTSBURGH — (AP) — Negotiations which will go a long way toward determining the nation's economy for the next year open in this steel capital Nov. 27.

Big United States Steel Corporation and the CIO United Steelworkers have decided to begin new contract talks in advance of the Dec. 1 date under the current contract which expires Dec. 31, 1951.

Similar negotiations are in the process of being arranged throughout the steel industry.

Industry Watches

Philip Murray, president of both the CIO and the Steelworkers, will head the union's negotiating committee which will try to win a wage boost for members who now average about $1.95 an hour. On the opposite side of the table will be John A. Stephens, vice president in charge of industrial relations for the big firm.

Everyone throughout the industry will be watching the negotiations because it's a matter of record that as "Big Steel" goes the rest of the steel industry.

Murray has a 22-point demand to present to Big Steel. Foremost is "a substantial wage hike." In addition, Murray wants an industry wide union shop, productivity bonus, service pay, improved vacations, premium pay for week-end working hours and a guaranteed annual wage.

Prices To Follow

Under the present Wage Stabilization Board ruling the Steelworkers would be entitled to only a four or five cent hourly boost. Murray has indicated he won't be satisfied with that.

As a consequence, government officials will be watching the negotiations closely.

Benjamin Fairless, president of U. S. Steel, said only a few days ago he believes the question of a pay hike "will apparently have to be decided in Washington."

If Murray wins a pay boost, industry spokesmen say, there's little question that the price of steel also will rise. As a matter of fact, some steel executives have said a price hike is needed even if a pay boost is not granted.

If steel prices rise, so will the prices of thousands of articles in which steel is used. That's why the outcome of the negotiations may ultimately be felt in just about everyone's pocketbook.

Army Reports Hermit Missing For Nine Days

ABERDEEN, Md.—(AP)—Peter Grainger, self-educated New Mexico hermit who joined the army to do some gun fighting, was on the AWOL list today.

His appearance a week ago last Sunday was just as casual as his start of army life Nov. 3 in San Antonio.

The 26-year-old mountaineer was waiting along with five other recruits for a short bus ride to the army proving grounds here after a cross-country train trip.

One of the recruits quoted Grainger as saying: "I think I'll take a walk and see what Aberdeen looks like."

He's had nine days to see the town now and yesterday the army officially made him absent without leave. Military police throughout the country have been alerted to watch for him.

The only report on Grainger's whereabouts came from Waukesha, Wis. A man who said he was Grainger and who resembled pictures of the mountaineer showed up there Friday to meet Carol Amidon, 17, who struck up a "pen pal" relationship with Grainger after reading about him in the newspaper. He had a date with Carol — which he said was his first. He left Waukesha Saturday by bus, saying he was due here yesterday.

Grainger startled San Antonio recruiters when he sauntered in and told them, "I buried paw on top of a mountain and then set out to join the army."

He said his father died last May. Up to that time the only world Grainger said he knew was the small mountain cabin and its wild surroundings.

He did get into the town of Beaverhead once, though, "about four or five days riding distance," and he said that was the first time he'd seen a woman, other than his mother.

When his father died, Grainger related, he packed his mule with two guns and food. The mule died during the mountain trek and Grainger hitched his first ride in a car. Later he got his first store clothes, and his second shave and haircut.

Army testers scratched their heads when he scored an amazing 92 on an armed forces qualification test. The passing mark is 10 and the average high school graduate makes 35. His only formal education came from books his father gave him.

But the missing mountaineer still hadn't fathomed all the army's red tape. He had an idea it was going to be simple:

"I thought they'd just gimme a uniform and a gun and send me out to fight."

Junkman Hunted In Union Busting

DETROIT — (AP) — Both city and state police today hunted for junk man Santo (Sam) Perrone in Detroit's "union-busting" inquiry.

Perrone and a second defendant, against formal charges of bribe conspiracy and union interference were missing yesterday when warrants were served.

Five men were accused. Three were released on $1,000 bond each after standing mute on appearance in recorder's court.

The charges deal with an alleged plot to keep the CIO United Auto Workers union out of the Detroit Michigan Stove Co. The company figured in testimony before the Kefauver crime investigation committee.

However, the stove firm and the UAW-CIO currently are in contract negotiations from which the union has reported progress.

Perrone holds a lucrative scrap metal contract with the company.

Perrone and Nono Minaudo, a co-defendant and bowling alley operator, could not be found when police set about serving the warrants.

Senior police inspector Paul Slack said both had been "conspicuously absent" from their homes and favorite visiting places since the inquiry began three weeks ago.

HEADS IKE'S CAMPAIGN—Sen. Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., (R., Mass.) was reported in Abilene, Kans., to be the new official director of the Eisenhower-for-President campaign, with headquarters to open in Washington soon. Henry Jameson, president of the original Eisenhower organization in the general's home town, said Lodge would direct campaign policy on a national level. Lodge scheduled a Washington press conference to explain what he called the "news leak" of his appointment.

Third Top Tax Official Quits

By B. L. LIVINGSTONE

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The many-sided House investigation of federal tax scandals switched briefly today to self-inquiry, following the resignation of another top internal revenue official.

Daniel A. Bolich stepped aside late yesterday as assistant internal revenue commissioner, giving reasons of health.

His resignation, the third since last June in the top levels of the internal revenue bureau, came at a time when he was reported under investigation by a House ways and means subcommittee probing irregularities in the service.

An official announcement impeded involving the office of the Detroit collector internal revenue — the nature of which was not disclosed.

Last month Deputy Commissioner Carroll E. Mealey resigned suddenly for reasons of health following a heart attack.

Following Bolich's resignation, Adrian W. Dewind, counsel for the King subcommittee, said Bolich had been under investigation "for the past several months" by committee and internal revenue investigators.

Cadillac Shivers At 8 Below Zero

(By The Associated Press)

Michigan experienced the nation's coldest weather early today — a rugged 8 below zero in Cadillac.

On a nationwide scale, the cold snap seemed to be losing its grip. But not, for the moment, in Michigan.

Besides the -8 recorded at Cadillac the mercury dove to 8 above in Houghton, 2 in Traverse City and 7 in Sault Ste. Marie. Even in Detroit, traditionally the warmest spot in the state, it was 17 last night.

Better things are in prospect. The weatherman forecast rising temperatures for tonight and Wednesday. In the Detroit area it was expected to get as high as 44 tomorrow.

"But you can't shut it off—the Escanaba Daily Press Want Ad said it was automatic!"

Mediators Hope To Prevent Tieup In Blood Plasma

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Mediators early today reached an agreement which they hope will halt a strike threatening to pinch off the flow of life-giving blood plasma to the armed forces.

Terms of the agreement still must be approved by members of the CIO-United Chemical Workers Union, who had threatened to quit work at the Sharp and Dohme blood processing plant in West Point, Pa.

A vote will be taken at a meeting called for tonight in Philadelphia.

The threat to the already inadequate supply of plasma alarmed officials. Some said here that if the strike developed, it would shut off about one quarter of the flow of blood plasma to the armed forces.

A mediation official in Philadelphia said, however, it would threaten the Army's entire plasma program.

Conditions were considered so serious that federal conciliators trying to stave off the strike by laboratory workers said if a settlement had not been reached by noon today, they had planned to ask the White House to step in—presumably with a fact finding board or other temporizing device.

Plasma is the colorless, basic liquid of the blood. It is used mainly to combat shock resulting from wounds, preventing death from shock seepage of the patient's own blood plasma through his blood vessels. Plasma is considered so vital as an emergency wound treatment that it is carried by medical corpsmen into the front lines, and administered where a man falls. It is in short supply.

World Disarmament Plan Thrown Before Full U. N. Committee

By JOHN RODERICK

PARIS—(AP)—The western plan for step-by-step world disarmament was thrown before the full forum of the 60-nation United Nations general assembly's political committee today.

Britain's delegate, minister of state Selwyn Lloyd, wound up the British-American-French argument for the proposal this morning. Other nations—including Russia—then may indicate if they wish to comment on it.

If the western proposal—formally introduced to the U. N. in a detailed resolution yesterday—follows the tortuous course of past assembly measures, it may draw demands for amendments, revision and rewording. Counter resolutions might even be offered.

Ahead may be some rocky going during what is expected to be lengthy consideration of all aspects of the resolution. But the Western Powers believe the veto-free assembly will finally approve their proposal.

What the Soviet Union then would do is another question. U. S. Secretary of State Dean

Acheson made it clear yesterday that all—not just most—of the world's nations must join in disarmament to make it work.

The proposal's essentials, as outlined by Acheson, were:

1. International inventory and disclosure of arms and armaments.
2. Step-by-step disarmament to agreed levels of all weapons of war, including the atomic.
3. Prohibition of the atom bomb.

4. Creation of safeguards to ensure that all nations comply with agreements and to warn the world of any nation not carrying them out.

Chill Of Winter Eases Slowly

(By The Associated Press)

November's cold snap appeared slow to loosen its grip over most of the eastern half of the nation today.

Some warmer air had moved into the Great Plains, sending temperatures above normal marks. There were prospects of some warming in midwest areas. But the forecast was for continued cold in most of the eastern and southern states.

It was below freezing over much of the south again today, except in Florida.

Snow flurries fell in the eastern Great Lakes area and in the Appalachian region. Showers hit parts of the middle Pacific states. Fair weather was reported in other parts of the country.

Gets Buck At 85

BOYNE CITY — (AP) — Eighty-five-year-old H. A. Webster shot his 51st buck in the Black River area, a 175-pound six pointer, to lay claim to the title of Michigan's oldest successful hunter of the season.

MOUNTAINEER ROOKIE AWOL — Peter Grainger, 26, lanky New Mexico mountaineer who wandered out of the hills to join the army and amazed recruiters with his mentality, is on the army's AWOL list today. The last report of Grainger's whereabouts was from Waukesha, Wis., where he showed up last Friday to pay a visit on Carol Amidon, 17, a pen pal acquaintance. The above picture, taken at a Waukesha high school, shows Grainger (center) and Miss Amidon (left). The recruit had a date with Carol, which he said was his first, and left Waukesha Saturday by bus for Aberdeen, Maryland, but failed to show up. (NEA Telephoto)

Michigan Bell Denied Fourth Rate Increase

LANSING — (AP)—The Michigan Public Service commission today denied the Michigan Bell Telephone Co. application for its fourth rate increase since World War II.

The company applied for increases totaling $22,500,000 last May 14. The commission order was the first outright denial of a major rate increase in Michigan history.

Democrats In Control
The commission order included a denial of the company's application to increase the cost of booth telephone calls from five to 10 cents.

The order was signed by Commission Chairman John H. McCarthy and Commissioner John M. Veale, both Democrats.

Commissioner Maurice E. Hunt, newly appointed Republican member, signed a separate statement declaring he did not participate in hearings on the application and therefore expressed "no opinion with respect to the findings and conclusions" of the commission.

The Democrats gained control of the commission for the first time last January with the appointment of Veale as the second Democratic member of the three-man group.

Earnings Up

The commission order said it was found that after all increases in taxes and operating expenses the company this year will earn $2,210,000 more than it did in 1950, and "therefore no rate increases are presently justified."

The commission said it found the company would earn $21,261,000 more than taxes and operating expenses in 1951 which is more than the $18,605,000 to $19,258,000 which the commission said the company needed to earn to support a capital structure of 45 per cent bonds and 55 per cent common stock.

COMPANY STATEMENT

A statement by John A. Greene, president, Michigan Bell Telephone Co. follows:

"The commission's order is extremely disappointing and dis-

Huge Atrocity Figures Faked By Communists

Answer To UN Peace Proposal Awaited

TOKYO — (AP) — Allied headquarters said today there is "considerable evidence" that about 6,000 American soldiers died in Red atrocity killings although bodies of only 365 have been recovered.

The statement from Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway's headquarters made no mention of Communist countercharges of Allied atrocities. Each side accused the other of atrocities in Korea while the Panmunjom circus tent truce talks were in a one-day recess asked by the Communists. The Reds wanted time to study a United Nations proposal for a tentative cease-fire.

Slander, Says Peiping

General headquarters of the U. N. Command made it clear the report of wholesale Red atrocities issued last week by Col. James M. Hanley did not involve an increase in the known American dead in the Korean war.

Broadcasts from Red radios in Pyongyang and Peiping conceded some American prisoners of war had died in prison camps but denied the report issued by Colonel Hanley of the Eighth Army's legal section as an "absurd lie" and a "slander."

Red radios in turn accused the allies of (1) Killing 17,000 Chinese and Korean Red prisoners of war or allowing them to starve to death, (2) Killing or injuring 14,500 North Korean civilians in bomb raids, and (3) Shipping out 1,000 Korean and Indochinese Reds for use in atomic tests.

Sears Roebuck To Sell New Car Built By Kaiser

DETROIT — (AP) — A Kaiser-Frazer built automobile soon will go on sale in Sears Roebuck stores.

Initially the new car, to be called the "Allstate," will be sold in 17 cities in the South and Southwest, probably before Christmas.

Announcement of the project was made jointly last night by Sears and Kaiser-Frazer. Specifications of the new car have not been disclosed, but it is reported to be similar in many details to the K-F Henry J model, although with distinguishing characteristics.

No major retooling is involved in production of the new car, which will be built on the K-F assembly lines at nearby Willow Run. Reportedly most of the design changes planned for the new "Allstate" model will be on the car's front end.

The Sears announcement indicated the new car would be on sale before Christmas. T. V. Houser, Sears vice president in charge of merchandising, said specifications will be released when definite dates have been established for its introduction.

Ike G. O. P., Says Kansas Senator

PARIS—(AP)—A senator from Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's home state of Kansas said today that if the general runs for president, it will be on the Republican ticket.

Sen. Frank Carlson, himself a Republican, made this statement at a press conference at SHAPE headquarters right after an hour-long talk with Eisenhower.

Asked if the question of whether Eisenhower would run for president had come up, Carlson said: "Kansans never meet but that they get into politics." Carlson said:

"If General Eisenhower runs for president, it will be on the Republican ticket. There is no question—there never has been any question about that."

"I am hopeful that the situation would be such that he will be available."

Two Hunters Wounded By Bullets; Downstate Man 'Shoot-And-Run' Victim

Two Lower Michigan deer hunters are in Escanaba and Manistique hospitals today following accidents yesterday in which both were wounded by bullets—one the victim of a "shoot-and-run" case.

State police of the Manistique post today are further investigating the accident in which Cecil W. McNeal, 30, of Muskegon, sustained a shattered right wrist.

McNeal was wounded at 5 p. m. yesterday afternoon while hunting near the north Blaney Park boundary and about two miles east of M-77 in Schoolcraft county.

Shot At Close Range
Coming out of the woods, McNeal was stepping over a windfall when a bullet grazed his right side at the belt line, entered his wrist and came out the lower forearm below the elbow, tearing away a piece of the bone. He is in Schoolcraft Memorial hospital where he submitted to surgery last night.

Officers said McNeal told them he heard the shot at close range.

New Slips Will Berth Ferry 'Vacationland'

SAULT STE. MARIE—New slips at both St. Ignace and Mackinac City will accommodate the new State Highway Department ice-crushing ferry "Vacationland" George Foster, chief deputy commissioner reported.

The two new slips at St. Ignace and another slip at Mackinac City were constructed under Foster's supervision.

W. J. McDonald, department accounting chief, reports that the docks were completed with the $4,105,000 appropriated for their construction. However the original appropriation was for $2,000,000 in 1950 but later that year the administrative board transferred $800,000 from other highway funds for the dock project. In 1951 the legislature appropriated another $1,305,000 to complete them.

Although the construction of the docks went far beyond original estimates, Foster said that the docks were not reduced.

Thanksgiving Play Presented Today By Junior High Students

"The First Thanksgiving," an original play, written and produced by section 74 of the Escanaba junior high school under the direction of Robert E. Meyer was presented to the seventh grade students today in the school auditorium.

In this play depicting the Pilgrim thanksgiving in 1621, Sharon Herro played Mrs. Martin; Bob Munger, Mr. Martin; Don Hovey, Gov. William Bradford; Roger Noblet, Jonathan Martin; Patsy Nelson, Mary Martin; and Phillip Sarasin, the Indian chief.

Other colonists were played by Jackie Roach, Wayne Caron, Loraine Olson, and Regina Peltier. Indian braves were Bob Lindblad, Jim Smith, Bob Lancour, Ray Walsh, and Eddie Provo, while the announcer was Ken Schwalbach.

Scenery and props were under the direction of Erwin Wolff, industrial arts teacher, and Mr. Meyer. Lynn Munshaw, Clayton Mathieson, Wheaton Williams, Noela Chevalier, Jamie Trotter, Carol Van Effen, Lois Cooper, Maxine Honeywell, Ronald Parrett, Roger Martinson, and Janet Victorson form the student committee.

Costumes were planned and arranged by Carol Nelson, Audrey Balthazore, and Helen Lang.

Four Cars Bump In Kipling Accident; Driver Gets Ticket

GLADSTONE—John N. Forvill, 221 Second avenue north, Gladstone, was ticketed for reckless driving by Michigan state police following an accident at 10:20 p. m. last night on US-2 when Forvill's car bumped three parked autos.

State police said Forvill was going south and pulled to the shoulder of the highway in Kipling. His car struck a parked auto owned by Robert Kliner, Gladstone; Kliner's car bumped a parked car owned by Edward Esler of Gladstone; and Esler's car moved ahead to ram a car owned by Ray Wahowiak of Gladstone.

Forvill sustained a cut upper lip. The cars were not extensively damaged.

Rotary Hears Russ Watson

District Governor Is Escanaba Speaker

Rotary as a force for peace in the world was described to the Escanaba Rotary club yesterday noon by Russell Watson of Manistique, governor of the Rotary district comprising the Upper Peninsula and northern Wisconsin.

The district governor on his first official visit to the Escanaba Rotary club met with officers, directors and committee chairmen prior to the noon luncheon at which Watson spoke to the club at the Delta hotel.

Rotary clubs in 83 countries throughout the world are united in an endeavor to promote international understanding, good will and peace, Watson said.

In addition to the activities of Rotary's 7,300 clubs in their own communities to promote this objective, Rotary International is spending $1,500,000 over a six-year period principally to create better understanding among the peoples of different nations, Watson said. One of the ways is through Rotary Foundation Fellowships, enabling graduate students to study for one year in countries other than their own, as ambassadors of good will.

"Devoted to service, Rotary provides a common ground for 350,000 business and professional executives throughout the world, regardless of nationality or political or religious belief, the Rotary district governor emphasized. "Peace is good business, for the world cannot be well run on the basis of war," he added.

District Governor Watson, Manistique business man, will in the course of the fiscal year ending next summer, make official visits to the 51 clubs with 2,200 members in the district which he heads.

Arrest Three Young Men For Breaking And Entering Store

Three Escanaba youths were arrested by police for breaking and entering Bert LeCaptain's store, 324 Stephenson avenue, late last night.

Jack Balthazore, 17 was jailed and the two other boys, both 16, were placed in custody of their parents as first offenders. Leo Meyette, 24, also arrested with the trio, was charged with drunk and disorderly conduct.

Stolen were four cartons of cigarettes, six bottles of wine, several cases of beer and $12.

Fairbanks Hunter Pays $25 Fine For Headlighting Deer

GLADSTONE—Lloyd Ranguette of Fairbanks township last night pleaded guilty in Justice A. T. Sohlberg's court at Gladstone to a charge of using an artificial light in attempting to hunt and kill deer and paid a fine of $25 and $7.80 costs.

Arrested in Fairbanks township by Conservation Officers Hugh Fisher of Nahma and Byron Borgen of Gwinn, Ranguette at first denied the charged and asked jury trial.

Later he returned to change his plea to guilty and pay the fine. A rifle seized by the officers was returned to him.

Was Retired Official Of C. & N. W.

John Leppla of Los Angeles, Calif., retired Chicago & North Western superintendent, and a brother of W. V. Leppla, 909 Fifth avenue south, Escanaba, died last night following a stroke. He was 80 years of age.

Mr. Leppla served as superintendent of the Dakota Division for the C. & N. W., superintendent of the Glena Division out of Chicago and in the same capacity for the Ashland Division where he was located 20 years.

Mr. Leppla had visited with him last summer on the west coast.

Surviving are one daughter, Jane, his son-in-law and two grandchildren of Buckbee, Wis., two brothers, W. V. Leppla of Escanaba and Ervin A., of Manitowish, Wis., and one sister, Mrs. Lydia Wason of Medina, Wis. His wife died five years ago.

Munising Will Have Lectures On Investments

A lecture course entitled "Investment Advice for the Layman" will be presented by the University of Michigan Extension Service under the local sponsorship of the Munising Public Schools, at Munising High school at 7:30 Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, November 26, 27, 28. The three lectures will be given by Professor Wilford J. Eiteman, Professor of Finance, School of Business Administration, University of Michigan.

The aim of the course will be to assist the average person in making wise investments. The titles of the lectures are as follows:

Nov. 26—"Long-run Personal Finance Planning."

Nov. 27—"Bonds, Preferred Stocks and Common Stocks as Investments."

Nov. 28—"How to Choose Issues for Purchase."

The purchase of a textbook at a reasonable price will be optional. The lectures will closely parallel the material in the textbook selected for the course.

Professor Eiteman joined the faculty of the University of Michigan in the fall of 1947. Prior to this time he taught at Ohio Wesleyan University, Albion College, Ohio State University, Duke University, and Rutgers University. During the first part of World War II he was OPA Price executive for Alaska. His biography is included in "Who's Who in America," "Who's Who in Commerce and Industry," "Who Knows and What," "American Scholars," and "America's Young Men" (1942 ed.).

Anyone who wishes to enroll in the course may do so. The course gives no credit, and there are no prerequisites for enrolling.

For further information about the course contact George Goss, 212 Cherry St., Munising, or Munising Superintendent of Schools William McNeill, or by writing the University of Michigan Extension Service at Escanaba.

Escanaba Chest Drive Success Shows Support For Single Campaign

There is real cause for "Thanksgiving" by participants in the Delta County Community Chest—both contributors and recipients of health, welfare, relief and character-building funds—as they contemplate the success of the 1951 campaign concluded this week.

A final tabulation shows that $14,273.80 was subscribed by Escanaba residents, $1,773.80 over the city's quota of $12,500, and $22,056.71 was contributed in the entire county, against a quota of $20,000.

The money will be used to finance the beneficial work through-out 1952 of the Michigan Children's Aid society, Cod Liver Oil Fund, Salvation Army, Campfire Girls and Boy and Girl Scouts.

Chest Endorsement
The amount over the goal contributed by Escanaba residents, or $1,773.80, represents 86 per cent of the amount over the goal in the entire county, it was pointed out at Chest headquarters this morning.

"This enthusiastic and generous response shows conclusively that Escanaba residents heartily endorse the Community Chest plan as the best possible plan for taking care of the city's welfare and relief needs," City Chairman James G. Ward, Jr., said this morning.

"Only the generosity of most Escanaba residents and the hard work of volunteer solicitors on 10 committees made possible the success of the Escanaba campaign."

One Big Drive
"This successful campaign provides definite proof that residents prefer having one big community drive and eliminating the many bothersome and time-consuming drives that are necessary without the Community Chest," he asserted.

"A big effort was made this year by County Chairman Nicholas Chapekis and all his assistants not only to revive the Community Chest but to enhance its prestige and increase its efficiency to the point that other fundraising agencies would join in future campaigns and assure a completely representative Community Chest."

Six agencies are represented in the 1951 Community Chest, it was pointed out. This means five less campaigns in Escanaba this year. Next year, it is hoped that seven or eight will join the Chest to more closely approach the goal of a 100 per cent Community Chest.

Workers Are Thanked
"In order to make sure that all persons in Escanaba had a chance to contribute to the Chest, 10 committees went to work," City Chairman Ward explained. "In some cases, duplication was unavoidable. By giving red feathers and stickers to be posted on residence, some duplication was avoided, but it was impossible in every case."

"The plan of having 10 separate committees, such as advance gifts, clubs, industrial, schools, unions, professional men and residential, worked very well, and the amounts raised by each provide a guide for establishing committee quotas in the future."

"It would be impossible to thank adequately everyone who volunteered his or her time and effort to make the campaign in Escanaba a success. The response in the organizational stage was very good and most workers continued until their respective areas were completely covered."

"I want to thank wholeheartedly all persons who helped in any way to make the 1951 Community Chest campaign in Escanaba a big success."

Amounts contributed by committee follow:

Music Students Will Perform

At Music Conference In Ann Arbor

Some 400 selected high school students, including two from Escanaba, will perform at the Midwestern Music Conference to be held on the University of Michigan campus in Ann Arbor on Nov. 30 to Dec. 2.

The local students are: Nancy Ostman, 1204 Eighth avenue south, Escanaba, first violin orchestra; and Charles Rose, Gladstone Route 1, second violin in orchestra.

The students are members of four music groups—the University of Michigan All-State Band, Intermediate Band, Orchestra and Chorus. The organizations have previously met for two weeks' practice, study and concerts at the National Music Camp at Interlochen, Mich.

The young musicians, many of whom receive scholarships to the camp, are recommended by their school music instructors for membership in the All-State groups. Final selection is made by the University School of Music.

Also appearing during the conference will be the University Symphony Orchestra, the University Choir, and the University Symphony Band, with Edwin Franko Goldman as guest conductor.

With The Deer Hunters

Downstate and outstate deer hunters were leaving the Upper Peninsula's snow-filled woods today, the majority without bucks and disgusted with the deep snow that has hampered efforts to fill their licenses.

The deer kill has been generally light, the snow heavy, reports the conservation department.

There is 28 inches of snow on the ground at Treeny. Other areas of the Upper Peninsula (all except the immediate Escanaba section) are deep with snow and there is much drifting. Hunters are clearing out of backwoods camps to avoid being snowed-in—with many anxious to get home for the Thanksgiving Day dinner.

Escanaba conservation district headquarters office reports only three permits issued to transport bucks through Wisconsin. This is "really light" compared to other years, officers said.

Luckless hunters, becoming over-anxious in the closing hours of their hunting stay, killed or wounded a growing number of human victims.

For the rest of the season the Northern Michigan woods will be largely left to resident hunters.

The list of successful hunters includes Donald Rasmussen, 902 Superior avenue, Gladstone, who on the opening day bagged a four-pointer weighing 125 pounds while hunting in the Whitefish area.

Hunting in the LaBranche area on the opening day of the season, John Schiska, 534 North 19th street, and Fritz Farrell, 309 North 14th street, each filled their license. Schiska's buck was a four-pointer weighing 130 pounds, and Farrell's weighed 165 pounds with seven-point antlers.

Two members of a hunting party in camp at Ogontz have reported success. Ray Newman, Escanaba, got a spike horn Sunday, and Bill Werner, Wyandotte, also brought down a spike horn, filling his license Friday.

Other members of the party are Roy Costley, Howard Dishneau and Bud Newell, Escanaba, and Ed Schroeder and son Harvey

Careful Driving Brings Happy Thanksgiving Day

Icy highways, deer hunters hurrying home, families on homecoming trips are hazards that may bring tragedy rather than happiness on Thanksgiving Day.

Continuing snowfall in most sections of the Upper Peninsula, with alternately thawing and freezing temperatures, have caused slippery spots on most Northern Michigan highways. Motorists should drive carefully, warns the state highway department.

Traffic law enforcement officials joined today in cautioning motorists to take it easy through the Thanksgiving Day period, when whole families could be wiped out by one accident.

"Tragedy will take all the joy out of Thanksgiving," was the warning.

Before starting a trip, motorists were advised to check the safety equipment of their car—tires, brakes, lights and windshields. Tire chains should be ready for use, defroster and windshield wiper in good condition.

Chains are a must if the highways are slippery with snow and ice. Their use, combined with reasonable speeds, will assure safe stopping and provide traction for hill climbing.

"The very best special tread tires will skid eight times as far on ice as the normal dry concrete stopping distance—so take it easy," authorities warned.

Greatest safety factor, however, is the man behind the wheel. Take it slow, take it easy—and have a happy Thanksgiving.

Editorials—

Winter Season Presents Extra Hazards For Automobile Driver

THE National Safety Council, in issuing its annual warning about the dangers of winter driving, calls attention to the additional hazards of skidding created by the use of cold synthetic rubber in automobile tires.

Winter driving tests made recently at Clintonville, Wis., revealed that natural rubber tires, manufactured before defense requirements forced tire companies into using more synthetic rubber, were eight per cent superior to similar present day tires in stopping on hard-packed snow and 47 per cent better in traction ability. On glare ice, natural rubber treads were 10 per cent better in stopping ability and 16 per cent better in traction ability.

Despite the efforts of road and street maintenance departments, snow and ice on pavements present traffic problems that require extra caution on the part of the motorist in the Upper Peninsula and elsewhere.

The National Safety Council recommends the following precautions to avoid accidents and traffic troubles this winter:

1. Get the "feel" of the road by trying your brakes while driving slowly and when no other vehicles are near.
2. Adjust your speed to road and weather conditions. Realize that synthetic tires skid and spin more on snow and ice than pre-war tires, although cold synthetic rubber wears better and performs normally on wet or dry pavements. But slow

Care-For-Korea Gifts Will Be Welcomed

THE pumpkins are in. The turkeys are being fattened. And some 150 million Americans throughout our United States are looking ahead to festive tables as they prepare to observe Thanksgiving Day.

There is no such prospect of plenty for the 21 million South Koreans who now survey the ruins of their war-devastated land. They must count themselves lucky if they can be sure of one bowl of rice. Thousands are war orphans, totally dependent upon charity. At least five million men, women and children are homeless refugees—living in flimsy shelters that do little to keep out the bitter cold, clothed in rags, begging for food.

We who have so much to be thankful for must not fail to share our plenty with those who have so little. The General Federation of Women's Clubs is conducting a nation-wide "CARE-FOR-KOREA" campaign this Thanksgiving season, to provide packages of food, warm blankets and clothing textiles for South Korea's war orphans and refugees. Delivery of these gifts will be made, in the name of the American donors, in time for Christmas. Thus the spiritual meaning of these two holidays will be combined in one great humanitarian gesture. Your contribution to the campaign committee of the Woman's Club in this city will be the truest holiday expression of thankfulness, compassion and good-will.

Little Fellow Hurt By Soaring Taxes

ECONOMIC Intelligence, a publication of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, points out that our present program of heavy government spending and soaring taxes is threatening the efficient performance and future growth of the American economy.

It is undermining the incentive to work and take risks.

It has reduced the ability and willingness of people to provide venture capital for new undertakings.

It is eliminating opportunity for the individual and for business.

It causes inflation, with consequent loss of confidence in the value of the dollar.

It has led to more and more growth and centralization of government powers.

It has burdened even the low-income groups with a weight of taxation which, up to now, was known only in the days of the greatest despots.

It is a commonplace to justify the ever-increasing tax burden by pointing to the need for a powerful military establishment and for aiding our anticommunist allies. That is a phony alibi. Very heavy cuts in government spending—perhaps as much as $10,000,000,000 a year—could be made without harming a sound arms or aid-to-Europe program in any way. This is the money which is being wasted on projects which are either totally unnecessary, or which could be indefinitely postponed.

Today it is the "little man" who must bear the main burdens of taxation. He, and he alone, must pay for the bulk of any new tax increases. It remains to be seen whether he shrinks and shrinks because of the tax collector.

Courtroom

Every time I see a courtroom where the flag of justice stands, I'm impressed with all the dignity our government commands, in the granting to each one of us a hearing that is fair, and where all who stand before the bar can get a deal that's square. And I think we take too lightly all these fundamental rights, which our constitution grants us and in simple words recites.

For I know a lot of people who have never gone to see, how a court of justice gives to us a steadfast guarantee, that we'll get a trial by jury and a speedy one at that, with a judge upon the bench who doesn't act the autocrat. And it takes substantial evidence—not rumor but the facts, to establish, beyond doubt, that we've committed wrongful acts.

So I think that every one of us could well afford the time, to examine courts of civil law as well as those of crime. We should gladly serve as jurors every time we get the call, and thus do our bit for justice as it's granted one and all. And if this we do we'll never take too lightly all our rights, which our priceless constitution in its simple words recites.

Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—Two of the nation's top newspapers, the St. Louis Post-Dispatch and the Providence, R. I., bulletin last week published a story regarding the Rippis-Mitchell income-tax case in Mobile, Ala., charging Assistant Attorney General Lamar Caudle with failure to prosecute.

Both these papers have done notable jobs in exposing corruption, but since I had something to do with the conviction of these two income-tax evaders, perhaps the inside story of what happened is worth telling—for two reasons: 1. To illustrate how tax cases sometimes get stymied. 2. In fairness to Caudle, who has been indicted around a lot and who, though indiscreet in his choice of friends, in my opinion is honest.

Much of the story was told in a column dated Dec. 16, 1949, when the Washington Merry-Go-Round two years ago began calling attention to shocking and then little-noticed income-tax scandals.

Sam Rippis and Joe Mitchell had made a fortune selling millions of dollars worth of jewelry to army PX's during the war, following which treasury agents caught them keeping two sets of books, claimed they owed at least $7,000,000 in taxes and recommended criminal prosecution. The column of Dec. 16, '49 then proceeds:

"Rippis and Mitchell immediately began to pull every political wire south or north of the Mason-Dixon line. First they tried to hire Joe Nunan, former commissioner of internal revenue. Then they negotiated with Martin Sweeber, a good friend of Nunan's. Then they retained William Nicholson of Charlotte, N. C., former partner of Lamar Caudle, assistant attorney general in charge of the tax division. 'Caudle phoned his former partner, asked him to withdraw from the case. He did so.

LAW PARTNER GOT FEE

"Finally, however, Mitchell and Rippis approached Will Walter Bankhead of Alabama's politically powerful Bankhead family, and through him retained Ben Leader, former law partner of the U. S. attorney in Birmingham, John Hill. Significantly, it was Hill who was to try the case.

"That case, however, has never been tried," continued the Merry-Go-Round on Dec. 16, 1949. "It was sent by the Justice Department (Caudle) to Hill for prosecution, but that was as far as it got. U. S. Attorney Hill held a conference with justice and treasury men in Birmingham at which he contended he did not have sufficient evidence. In the end, and with their concurrence, the prosecution of jewelry profiteers Rippis and Mitchell was sent back to Washington as closed.

"Meanwhile, this column, probing the tax fraud, unearthed some interesting facts. Ben Leader, when questioned, admitted he was Hill's former law partner; also admitted he received a fee of $12,000."

At this point it appeared that the Rippis-Mitchell case was stopped cold. It looked to me as if it had about as much chance of reaching prosecution as a freight train of crossing the great divide without an engine.

The column of Dec. 16, 1949, continued with other details. But here are some background facts I did not publish. Jack Anderson, the Merry-Go-Round reporter whom I sent to Mobile and Birmingham to button up the story, brought back what looked to me like new evidence, and I arranged an appointment at the justice department with Lamar Caudle, Turner Smith, in charge of the criminal section of the tax division, and John Mitchell, the justice department attorney who had gone to Birmingham to confer with Hill and who had concurred that the case should not be prosecuted.

PHONY BOOKKEEPING

Mr. Anderson and I made a full presentation of what we considered shocking facts. These included a bookkeeping system whereby Rippis and Mitchell let their small checks and cash accumulate. Then, when a big check came in, they deposited the accumulated small checks and cash to the same amount as the big check, in order to make it appear that the big check had been cashed. Actually the big check was converted into a cashier's check, then sent by a roundabout way through the Jefferson Investment Co. of St. Louis, controlled by Mitchell, to the Paramount Check Cashing service in New York.

During our conference, Caudle several times remarked that there certainly ought to be enough evidence to prosecute, and immediately thereafter, he sent John Mitchell (no relation to Joe Mitchell) to Mobile to reopen the entire case. The two tax defrauders were then indicted, pleaded guilty and are now in jail.

Tito Press Conference Has Tricks Reporters Wish Truman Would Try

BY PETER EDSON

NEA Washington Correspondent

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia

(NEA) — Marshal Tito, Prime Minister and boss of Yugoslavia, doesn't see the foreign and domestic correspondents assigned to his capital often but once every two or three months. But when he does hold a press conference, he introduces a few tricks that Washington correspondents would like to see President Truman install.

Right after the recent Zagreb peace conference, Marshal Tito managed to assemble some 200 American and European correspondents in Belgrade. Tito took advantage of the occasion to spread his particular brand of propaganda on the record in a three-hour press conference few of the correspondents will ever forget.

The correspondents were assembled in the White Palace, which is Tito's official residence on the old royal palace grounds. It's located on a hill overlooking Belgrade, and it's protected by what appears to be a strong military garrison.

The old royal palace, last occupied by the boy-king, Peter, is now closed up. Tito's official residence is a smaller palace formerly occupied by Prince Paul, the former agent. Tito actually lives in a smaller palace a half mile away.

To start his White Palace press conference, Tito marched into a reception room where the correspondents were assembled. He walked through the group, heeled by a big German police dog who is a constant companion.

As he strode to the end of the reception room, a servant presented him with a tray containing small glasses of Yugoslav slivovica, or plum brandy, chartreuse and creme de menthe. Mind you, this was at 9:30 a. m.

"To Health of Press"

Tito took a glass of the brandy, raised it and said, "I drink to the health of the press." He downed it in a gulp. Then the press took a shot and Tito led the way into the conference room. It had the appearance of a state dining room.

It was white plaster walled, with a china cabinet at one end and high windows across the other end.

Green felt-covered tables in the room had been arranged in the form of a grid. Tito sat in the center of a table which ran the length of the room, at one side.

He was flanked by a dozen aides and ministry of information officials. The correspondents were seated on both sides of eight tables placed at right angles to the main table. There was a beautiful tapestry on the wall behind Tito, which made a colorful backdrop for the still and the movie photographers who shot more or less at will throughout the interview.

Tito is a chain smoker. He smoked the end of one pack and broke open another in the course of the session, smoking rapidly while translations of questions and answers were made from Yugoslav to French and English. He uses a curved cigaret holder, with an amber stem and silver inlaid bowl, shaped like a small pipe. This makes the cigaret stand vertically and keeps the smoke above his eye level.

At times Tito played with a pair of horn-rimmed reading glasses, but he did not put them on. On his left wrist was a big gold watch and on the ring finger of his left hand was a gold signet ring. It was set with a huge diamond which at intervals caught the sunlight that streamed in the window sending myriad little lights dancing across the ceiling.

No Prepared Statement

Tito began the conference by saying that he had no prepared statement—which was something of a surprise, since he has been known to make speeches eight hours long.

But he was ready to answer questions. In all he answered some 30 questions. Some of his answers were ten minutes long. Translating them into English and French is what took the time.

Tito speaks French, as well as German and Russian, and a few other southern European languages, though he isn't so good on his English. But whenever the French translator didn't suit him, Tito corrected the translation.

On his own answers in Yugoslav, Tito spoke fluently and without consulting either his notes or his aides. He knew all the answers himself.

Yugoslav journalists in attendance spouted obviously planted questions to give Tito an opportunity to answer all his critics, inside and outside the iron curtain. His whole purpose was to present a picture that everything in Yugoslavia was just dandy—which of course it isn't.

After about an hour and a half of this, waiters brought around pink rosebud-decorated demitasses of black Turkish style coffee. On the tables were bottles of Bukovicka, a native mineral water, and saucers of native cigars. These kept the reporters alive during the performance, and they are reforms that President Truman will no doubt wish to inaugurate at the White House.

But after three hours of Tito's harangue, the American correspondents just got tired and walked out. The U. S. embassy staff was a little worried that it might create an incident. But soon after, Tito himself got tired and quit. He was driven off from the palace grounds in his Cadillac, followed by three carloads of bodyguards in open cars.

Onion Soup

The countryman believes one cause of the contemporary maelstrom is that too many citizens have neglected the onion. This edible bulb, a member of the Lily family and a relative of leeks, garlic and chives, has a certain uninhibited authority and zest that is needed in the body politic. It is a food of ancient and honorable lineage, known in Sanskrit, Greek, Hebrew and Latin, indicative of widespread culture in prehistoric times. Allium cepa was used extensively by the Egyptians; the Bible mentions that the Israelites wandering in the wilderness missed the onions, leeks and garlic they enjoyed in the land of the pyramids.

Most gardeners raise onions from sets; it is the easiest and most convenient method. Set out as early as the ground can be worked, a man can enjoy scallions and small boiled onions in early summer. For winter-keeping onions, the countryman's experiments all tend to the conclusion that onions raised from seed will keep longer. A few know the value of the small bunch onions; these nuggets for flavoring purposes keep firm until May. Solid citizens want fried onions frequently as a concomitant of fried potatoes. When potatoes are fried in the same spider after the spuds have a flavor that can be obtained by no other method.

However, our present plea is for onion soup. It is a puzzling phenomenon of the era why cooks neglect it. Perhaps it is because we have gone to steam pressure cookers which frighten good foods into abject submission in a few minutes. Topflight onion soup is made by only one technique. First, fry half a dozen onions until they are golden brown and juicy; never let them frizzle up their edges and dry out. Use a smidgen of black pepper, a dote of salt and about a teaspoon of Worcester-shire sauce as they fry. Add a quart and a half or so of honest beef broth and let the whole simmer very, very quietly for half an hour. Make your onion soup in the morning so it can cool for several hours. Then when you heat it up for supper, all the satisfying flavors blend into one harmonious whole. Two bowls of this, plenty of common crackers, a big wedge of cold, juicy, maple-flavored apple pie and a cup of authoritative coffee is a pleasant way to end a day.—By Haydn Pearson.

So They Say

History does not forgive us our national mistakes because they are explicable in terms of our domestic policies. . . . A nation which excuses its own failures by the sacred untouchableness of its own habits can excuse itself into complete disaster.—George F. Kennan, former State Department policy-planner.

Harry Truman is a clever political leader. . . . He lacks a little finesse. . . . Perhaps he is not to blame for the failure of his own party to carry out its pledges to labor. . . . Let us give him the benefit of the doubt.—Daniel Tobin, president, Teamsters' union.

Assembly line methods have no place in school. The inability of hundreds of communities. . . . to provide adequately for individual care of their children is cause for national alarm.—W. E. Givens, of National Educational Assn.

It is fantastic what can happen with the use of the new weapons which are now under construction in this country, not only the one which we all fear the most but there are some weapons which are fantastic in their operation.—President Truman.

Good Evening . . .

By CLINT DUNATHAN

IN THANKSGIVING—There are so many things to be thankful for in this year of 1951 that it is difficult to begin listing our blessings.

First, we should be thankful Americans have not lost their youthful approach to new experience—whether it be in the humble enjoyment of a family dinner or the role of peacemakers in a troubled world.

It is only recently (compared to the thousands of years of world history) that American Pilgrims offered up thanks to God as they feasted following the first harvest.

Today the sense of gratitude is not dulled in the hearts of Americans. They are grateful for a rich land, production greater than the world have ever known, and the ability to share material wealth with others less fortunate.

THE HERITAGE—No matter how the pessimists may speak darkly of the United States as decadent, its officials corrupt and its people cynical and ungrateful, there remains the obvious good works to refute them.

America's heritage of courage in adversity, a people tested and never found wanting when enemies challenged or hard times struck, is with us still.

Have Americans become soft and immoral and godless? We do not think so. Have we become so morally bankrupt that the United States will fall as did the haughty Roman empire? We do not think so.

Mass barbarism and atrocities are not our stock in international trade. aggression is not our business in the world, and daily headlines tell of our strength in dealing with internal corruption—whether in the field of crime or in government.

OF OUR PEOPLE—The United States is composed of millions of the so-called "little people" whose daily lives refute the charge of immorality and godlessness.

They work hard and they save and have homes; they belong to and attend churches and encourage their children in Christianity and in education; and they pay taxes and in the majority are in accord with a government program of humanitarianism such as the world has never known before.

Wanting peace with all their hearts and souls, they give their sons to war—in the hope of peace to come.

The people of the Roman empire were never like this. Americans will never become party to official rottenness so long as democracy survives and they—the people—rule their officials. That day of downfall has not come, and American politics being what it is, will never come.

AND THEIR COURAGE—The United States has survived wars and depressions and been strengthened by them. The courage of our people is a shining light in the world today.

Now in the test is the people's courage to fight and win a just and honorable peace. To this end they will work with all their heart and soul—not only for themselves but for all the people of the world—and if failure should follow their moral fibre will be strengthened thereby.

WITH HUMILITY—On Thanksgiving Day these thoughts will come to the minds of our people, not with feelings of pride and arrogance, but in humility and thankfulness for the blessings of our land.

The comparative abundance of our dinner tables is not easily won. Americans are hard workers. Their energy and productivity is the foundation for their world-wide generosity.

And so on Thanksgiving Day they deservedly enjoy the fruits of their labor, in humility give thanks, and look to the future with continuing optimism and courage.

Power With Words

By Dr. C. E. Funk

SOME STRANGE OCCUPATIONS It has been well publicized that a "hijacker," sometimes spelled "high-jacker," is a person who steals the liquor, furs, or other merchandise illegally in the possession of other criminals.

Anyone owning a radio has probably learned that a "disc jockey," far from an interest in horse racing, merely conducts a radio program which is devoted to musical records.

And it is well known that a "mule skinner" merely drives mules and doesn't skin them.

But did you know that—"Bratter" is the term in some sections for "baby-sitter," one who takes care of children by the hour or day;

"Grab skipper" is the laborer in logging operations who removes the hooks or "grabs" in skidding logs;

"Last putter-away" means a laborer in a shoe factory who puts shoe lasts back into storage bins after use;

"Black-pickle assorter" is one who inspects sheet steel that has been treated to a bath of hot sulphuric acid ("black pickle");

"Pouncer," in hat making, is one who shapes felt hats by rubbing down the surface with "pounce," a fine powder formerly made of cuttlefish bone, although now fine sandpaper has replaced pounce;

"Crown pouncer," is one who "pounces" the crown of a hat with fine sandpaper;

"Twister doffer" is a textile worker who removes filled bobbins from a twisting machine;

"White-hair remover" is a person employed in leather manufacturing who removes the more valuable white hair from a hide;

"Helio looper" is a person engaged in the manufacture of bed-springs who loops the ends of helical or coiled springs;

A large vocabulary can help you socially and professionally. Send for Dr. Funk's free leaflet "How to Build a Vocabulary," addressing him care of this paper and enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Michigan Tech Forest Research Is Reviewed

Michigan Tech's forest products research director, Dr. Herford Garland, and his staff reviewed the progress of the division at the annual meeting of the advisory committee held in Houghton, R. W. Jenner of the Cliffs-Dow Chemical Company of Marquette presided at the meeting.

The advisory council is composed of leading wood and timber industrialists in the Upper Peninsula and works closely with the Forest Products Research Division, which is associated with the college under the general supervision of Dr. Grover C. Dillman, president and director of research at Michigan Tech.

Advisory committee members present at the Houghton meeting, in addition to Jenner, were G. R. Connor of the Connor Lumber and Land Company of Wakefield, Juel Lee of the Birds-Eye Veneer Company of Escanaba, W. G. Nelson of Iron Mountain plant of the Ford Motor Company, L. P. Walsh of the Northwoods Timber Company of Ontonagon, and C. S. Slining of the Northwoods Manufacturing Company of Manistique. Abbott M. Fox of Iron Mountain, chairman of the committee, was not present.

Aid Small Plants
Dr. Garland gave a general report of the progress of the research program and told of the work of the staff in wood-using industry development in northern Michigan. He described technical assistance rendered by the staff to ten small wood-using plants since the previous meeting.

Field Technologist Arlie W.

Toole discussed products and methods that have been developed to use low-grade lumber. He told of the detailed analysis of product recovery from low-grade hardwood lumber made by his assistant, Carl W. Danielson, Jr., and he showed the committee installations of several types of attractive block flooring and wall panels made from the lowest grade of birch and maple lumber.

Also described by Mr. Toole were the staff investigations on the manufacture of hardboard from logging waste and other low cost wood available in Michigan.

Hardwood Pulp
Chemical Engineer Walter H. Koepf told about progress in testing Michigan hardwoods for pulping. He showed samples of cellulose acetate rayon yarn made from Michigan aspen wood.

Mrs. Koepf also discussed a cooperative project with the Eastern Regional Laboratory of the U. S. Department of Agriculture involving the chipping of hemlock slabs and the subsequent separation of bark and wood the bark to be used for tannin extraction and the wood for papermaking.

Leland W. Hooker, timber technologist, told of his work in logging safety development and logging mechanization. He described a logging project being operated by the college with the financial support of the Cliffs-Dow Chemical Company, Marquette, with the cooperation of the Copper Range Company, Houghton. The object of this project is to make a thinning cutting in a young hardwood forest that will yield a crop of chemical wood and other products, and at the same time improve the growing condition of the timber stand.

Committee members were given a demonstration of the Michigan Tech Pulpwood Peeler by Mechanical Engineer Donald J. Yeardon. The testing of the working parts of the full-scale peeler is nearly completed, and it is expected that the machine will soon be turned over for manufacture to D. J. Murray Manufacturing company of Wausau, Wis., who have been financially supporting the development.

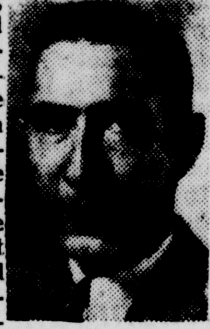

Marinate canned asparagus tips in a spicy French dressing, then drain and place on a bed of shredded lettuce; garnish with strips of canned pimiento. Serve with finger rolls that have been hollowed out and filled with egg salad, as a main course for luncheon or for Sunday night supper.

BURTON GETS FIRST DEER?—As far as could be learned Charles Burton was the first Gladstone hunter to fill his license this season. He and his son Chuck were watching a runaway in the Schaawe Lake area when Chuck heard a sound and spotted a deer about 70 yards away. Using the binoculars, Burton was able to make out horns. As it was a little far for shotgun, which Chuck was using, the father put away the binoculars, put on his glasses and picked up the deer rifle. As they went to the fallen animal they checked the time and it was 7:35. (Daily Press Photo)

OES Marathon Begins Tonight

Card Tournament To Run During Winter

The first round of regular play in the card marathon being sponsored by Minnawasca Chapter No. 96, Order of the Eastern Star, will be played this evening at the chapter hall.

Bridge, Canasta, five hundred and pinocle will be the games with playing starting at 8.

Lunch is to be served at the close.

Downstate Hunter Fined When Loaded Gun Is Found In Car

Roy Lausch of Jackson pleaded guilty to a charge of carrying a loaded gun in an auto and paid a fine of $25 and costs of $7.80 when arraigned before Justice of Peace O. C. Estenson Saturday.

Lausch was arrested by Conservation Officers Glenn Price and Robert Bezzi in Baldwin township last Friday.

No League Bowling For Men This Week

There will be no regular league bowling this week at the Midway alleys because of the absence of many bowlers who are deer hunting. The regular schedule will be resumed next week.

Music In Her Toes For Young Deaf Girl

LOS ANGELES — (P) — A 9-year-old girl, who can't hear music because she's deaf, has become a proficient tap dancer nonetheless. Her mother says she feels the music through her toes.

The girl's mother, Mrs. Don Rodgers, said little Elaine made the discovery by accident. "A record player was on and she suddenly felt the vibrations through a wooden floor. She let out an exclamation, pointed to the machine, then to her ears and feet."

Elaine joined a dancing class and is one of the star pupils.

Churches Are Planning Thanksgiving Services

Special services of Thanksgiving are to be held in a number of churches in Gladstone on Thursday.

Seven churches are uniting for a joint service to be held in Memorial Methodist church at 10 Thursday morning. They are the First Baptist, First Lutheran, Bethel Free, Memorial Methodist, Mission Covenant, Free Methodist and Trinity Episcopal. The Rev. Axel Edwards will deliver the sermon.

There will be a mass in Thanksgiving Thursday morning at 8 in All Saints Catholic church. Confessions will be heard Wednesday evening from 7 to 8.

A Thanksgiving service will be offered in St. Paul's Lutheran church Thursday morning at 9.

In the Reorganized Latter Day Saints church there will be a service of Thanksgiving Thursday morning at 9:45. Because of this the usual Wednesday evening service will not be held.

A Thanksgiving service also will be held in St. Martin's Lutheran church at Rapid River at 7:30 Wednesday evening.

Cultural Hopes Are Seen For Singapore

SINGAPORE — (P) — Malcolm MacDonald, British Commissioner-Governor for Southeast Asia, says he hopes Singapore will become one of the world's greatest cultural centers.

Praising Indian and other foreign artists who have given performances here, MacDonald said in a speech at Victoria Theatre: "Singapore is a cross-roads where several civilizations meet. Here, the culture of Europe and India, China and Malaysia all mingle and mix."

"That is one reason why we hope, in due time, to make this city much more than the valuable and famous commercial center which it is today."

Urge Board To Run Cage Loop

Another Meeting Set For Dec. 4

The Manistique city basketball league will be run this year by a board of managers instead of by the city recreation commission, if recommendations made at a preliminary organization meeting last week are adopted.

At last week's session it was suggested that a board of managers composed of one certified member from each participating team be established, and that the board select its own chairman and treasurer and also supervise league play.

It also was recommended that an entry fee of $1 per man per team be approved, and that such fees be paid at or before the opening of league play on Dec. 11. A team roster limit of 12 players also was recommended.

Another meeting is slated for Dec. 4 at which action is expected to be taken on various recommendations.

Four teams already have signified their intentions of joining the league. They are the CYO, Chevs, CIO and Gulliver. Garden has been invited to enter, and Cooks, Papermakers and the National Guard also are expected to enter teams.

A CEREMONY at St. Francis de Sales church November 14 united in marriage Margaret Brager, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Brager, 312 North Third street, and Richard W. Hamiel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hamiel, of Gulliver. The newlyweds will make their home in Manistique. (Linder photo)

Warehouse Is Broken Into

Theft Discovered Sunday Morning

The warehouse of the Williams Bottling Works, located on an alley between Walnut and Main streets, was broken into Saturday night, it is reported by city police.

Entrance was gained by smashing a catch on a double entry door with a piece of concrete. Entry of the building was noted about 11 a. m. Sunday by John Williams.

Pending an inventory of warehouse stock, there was no information on the amount of merchandise taken, police said.

Local Young Man Is Arraigned For Assault, Battery

Daniel Gould, 21, paid costs of $3.75 and made restitution of $25 after pleading guilty in local justice court yesterday afternoon to an assault and battery charge. A fine of $10 was suspended.

He was arrested yesterday morning by state police on complaint of Gus Bloom of the U and I club, who charged that Gould, in company with two other men, assaulted him at the club Sunday evening when he refused to sell them intoxicants.

Restitution included payment

Speaker Discusses Part Of Education In Social Progress

The contribution of education to better living and social and industrial progress was discussed by Grover C. Dillman, president of Michigan College of Mining and Technology, at the annual Masonic past masters' dinner program Saturday evening.

The speaker traced the history of education from the days of the guilds and discussed in particular the growth of higher learning in Michigan.

The need for technical and professional skills is greater today than ever before, the speaker said, and in order to meet these needs virtually all educational institutions are confronted by a serious financial problem.

Dillman voiced opposition to federal grants as a way to meet fiscal requirements, stating that Michigan was able to take care of its own needs by legislative appropriations.

Unless such financial aid is provided, however, colleges and universities must curtail their programs to fit their means, he pointed out, even if the need for educated skills is greater than ever.

Describe Research

Institutions of higher learning, he said, are again stressing the humanities along with technical and scientific education. "We have found that the truly educated man needs more than technological or scientific proficiency," he stated.

The speaker also discussed how

Michigan College of Mining and Technology has entered the field of applied research as an aid to the mining and timber areas it services. This, he pointed out, is being done in cooperation with mining and lumber firms.

He referred to studies of taconite, low grade iron ore, in Minnesota, and said that at Houghton studies are being carried on to find means of utilizing low grade copper and iron ores in the Upper Peninsula. He also discussed studies being made to find greater utilization for the peninsula's wood products.

Low grade copper ores, he stated, are half metallic and half sulphite and pose a problem for the successful extraction of copper. As a result of the studies, he said, mining companies should be able to extract about 75,000,000 tons of copper per year from the low grade ores after operations begin in about three years.

Past Masters Present

The program also included introduction of various past masters; a message of welcome by Carlton Siddall; response by Arthur Drevdahl; a welcome to the youngest past master by J. Mauritz Carlson; a response by George Stevenson; and several readings by Mrs. Elwood Taylor, Wilbur Fairchild, master of Lakeside lodge No. 371, F. and A. M., presided as toastmaster.

Dinner was served by Ira Chapter No. 54, Orders of Eastern Star, and dinner music was provided by Ross Collier and Mrs. Clarence Peterson.

Past masters present were Arthur Drevdahl, Ian Winn, Roy Anderson, Stanley Carlyn, Harry Ahlstrom, A. L. LaVigne, Keith Bundy, J. M. Carlson, Carl Carlson, Edward V. Jackson, Elwood Taylor and George Stevenson. Messages were read from three absent past masters, Harry Thomas, of Tacoma, Wash.; Wayne Martin, of Rockford, and Gage Byee, of Wautoma, Wis.

Debaters Win Five, Lose Two

Squads Take Part In Practice Tourney

Five victories and two defeats were recorded by Manistique high school debate teams at the first practice tournament Saturday in Kingsford.

The varsity affirmative team, composed of Nick Babladelis and Laura Pizzala, defeated Newberry and Menominee, but the varsity negative, made up of William Corson and Mary Giovannini, lost to Ironwood after beating Iron Mountain.

The reserve negative, composed of Jon Schuster and Carol Martinson, also won two contests, defeating Baraga and Iron Mountain. The reserve affirmative, comprised of Ken Dixon and Phyllis Garvin, lost to Escanaba.

Others who made the trip were Carol Heldeman, Bob Corson and Beth Ann Viergever, debaters; Marvin Frederickson, debate coach; and Miss Helvi Walkonen, Miss Goldie Piroch, and Joseph Giovannini, faculty members.

Hunter Spends Night In Woods At Smith Creek

Bud Massoll, 30, of Detroit, found his own way out of the Smith Creek wilderness yesterday morning after being missing since 4 p. m. Sunday, it is reported by Michigan State Police.

Massoll, hunting with a group from the Bert Nigh cabin, was last seen at 4 Sunday. A searching party composed of his hunting companions, conservation officers and state police was organized but failed to locate the missing hunter Sunday night or early yesterday morning.

The local police post was notified at 11 a. m. yesterday that the hunter had found his own way out and had caught a ride back to his camp.

He was familiar with the Smith Creek area, having hunted there for several years, and suffered no ill effects from his night in the woods.

UGH! GARBAGE

Nobody really likes to handle garbage. It's a disgusting task. But today, there's no excuse for continuing to do it.

GENERAL ELECTRIC DISPOSALL UNIT

Sheds away food waste before it becomes garbage

With a G-E Disposall unit installed in your sink, garbage collecting is a thing of the past. Peel apples in the sink—let potato peels fall there. Put bones, fat, gristle, waste from lettuce—in fact, food waste of practically all sorts—in the drain outlet of the sink.

Then give the Safety Twist Control a twist to the left. Let the cold water run a few seconds. The Disposall unit automatically goes into action, and whish!—food waste is shredded into tiny particles and flushed down the drain!

Safe, simple, sanitary. Drain lines are unclogged—won't clog. The Disposall is self-cleaning—it and your sink remain gleamingly bright, sweet and clean.

Three Hurt In Auto Crashes

Icy Roads Cause Several Accidents

Three persons were injured in a series of automobile accidents over the weekend, all caused by icy roads, it is reported by Michigan state police here.

Lyle Wilcox, 21, of Germfask, and Beatrice Eagle, 52, of Applegate, Mich., were injured in a crash at 1:35 p. m. Sunday on US-2, one mile south of the Green School. The Applegate woman suffered a head bump but did not receive medical treatment. Wilcox, suffering from a cut knee, was treated at the Schoolcraft Memorial hospital.

The accident resulted when the Applegate machine skidded on ice and swerved into the path of the Wilcox car, police reported.

Delores Kiley, 26, of 1914 Remington, Saginaw, was treated at the local hospital for bruises following an accident Saturday on US-2 a mile west of Blaney. The car in which she was a passenger, driven by her husband, John W. Kiley, 34, jr., rolled over twice after skidding.

Four other accidents resulted in auto damage but no personal injuries.

Cars driven by Gerard Amyotte, 19, of Brantford, Ont., and Aubrey W. Smith, 50, of 119 Bogg avenue, Jackson, were involved in a crash at 5 a. m. Saturday on US-2, two miles north of Gulliver. The Amyotte machine sideswiped the other car after skidding.

At 12:05 a. m. Saturday a car driven by Raymond J. Gardapee, 18, of Manistique RFD route one, rolled over on M-94 after skidding. The accident occurred near the city limits as Gardapee was traveling north.

At 7 p. m. Saturday a car driven by George E. Lane, 53, of 799 Cambridge, Berkeley, rolled over after skidding on US-2, a half mile north of the Green School. A car driven by Jeanne Clare Collins, 39, of Alpena, rolled over on its top after skidding at 5:20 p. m. Sunday on US-2 in Garden township.

Fine Hunter With Loaded Gun In Car

John W. Heyt, of Grand Rapids, paid a fine of $15 and costs of $7.25 after pleading guilty in local justice court yesterday morning to having a loaded rifle in a car.

He was arrested in Mueller township by Conservation Officer Harold Peters.

City Briefs

Lloyd Carrothers, 207 North Second street, is one of the successful deer hunters this season. He bagged his buck, an eight pointer, Friday in the Thunder Lake area. The deer weighed about 140 pounds.

Rev. and Mrs. Edgar M. Smith and children will spend Thanksgiving day with relatives in Manistique. They will also visit Mrs. Smith's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jackson Lanphier, of Midland, returning home Sunday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. William Miller, South Houghton avenue, are the parents of a son born November 18 at the Schoolcraft Memorial hospital. The infant has been named Arthur James.

The Eino Sainio family, of Newberry, visited Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. William Howe, North Second street. The Sainios are former residents of Manistique.

Glenn Riley has been dismissed from the Schoolcraft Memorial hospital to his home at 133 River street.

J. M. Buckley and Ernest Eggleston, of Jackson, have arrived to spend a week of deer hunting here with Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Buckley, route two.

Peter Nye was dismissed from the Schoolcraft Memorial hospital to the Cloverland lodge Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Pawley, River Road, visited Sunday with O. D. Parker at the Cloverland lodge.

Those who are hunting at the Vosine camp or "Old Jungle Home" beyond the Big Spring are Adolph Vollmer, Al Weidman, Rudolph Smith, William Smith, Alex Gabriault, sr., and Alex Gabriault, jr., all of Detroit, and Frank Vosine and Alfred Scharstrom, of Manistique.

Labeau and Charles Migon, of Flint, visited here this past week with Mr. and Mrs. George Huber, South Cedar street.

In 1371, a Paris law required each homeowner to place a hog-head of water at his door as a precaution against fire. They bred a lot of mosquitoes.

Cooks Man Dies Sunday

Funeral To Be In Cohoes, N. Y.

Dieudonne Rocheleau, 77, passed away at 10:30 p. m. Sunday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Ernest Popour, of Cohoes. He had been in failing health for the past eight years.

He was born Jan. 1, 1874, in Canada and moved to the United States in 1893, settling in Cohoes, N. Y., where he was employed as a textile worker.

After residing in Cohoes 23 years he moved to Cohoes where he lived for 20 years. He then moved back to Cohoes where he engaged in textile work until his retirement three years ago.

Following the death of his wife, the former Exilda Raymond, of Cohoes, three years ago, he returned to Cohoes to reside with his daughter. He was a member of St. Mary's church in Cohoes.

Survivors besides his daughter are a brother, Adrian, and a sister, Mary Louise Ayotte, both in Canada. He also leaves five grandchildren and 16 great grandchildren.

The body was prepared for burial by the Morton funeral home and will be shipped tonight to Cohoes for funeral and burial.

On the average, only 10 per cent of the nation's forest fires are started by lightning and other natural causes. Most of them are caused by burning cigarettes. The rest are started by smoldering camp fires.

Lakeside Brownies Present Program

In This Corner

With Ray Crandall

Jim Wigand of Wells, blind as a result of an injury suffered playing baseball as a youth, is the proud possessor of the personal best wishes of two of baseball's greatest pitchers, Harold Newhouser and Paul "Dizzy" Trout of the Detroit Tigers. . . Learning that the Escanaba man was a long-time admirer of the Tigers, Newhouser and Trout, who visited Saturday night at the Bill Casey hunting camp near Northland, wrote personal messages of encouragement to Wigand. . . Dick Schmeltzer, friend of the Wigand family, passed the messages on to Jim today.

The boys at Casey's camp had an elegant reception for the two Tiger stars Saturday. . . And they never had two more enthusiastic guests. . . Trout entertained with a couple of hilarious stories and both tackled a sumptuous dinner prepared by Casey himself. . . Sport Moreau was presented with his annual birthday gift from Trout, and it was right smooth stuff. . . Another Tiger hurler, Art Houtteman, was with Trout and Newhouser but was tied up at a camp near Ralph.

We had a chance to ask Newhouser how his bum shoulder was getting along. . . "I can't tell," he said, "because I haven't thrown a ball since July." . . We wondered if he thought he'd be ready next season. . . "I wonder too," the long lefty replied, "and I won't know 'til spring training." We moved on to the subject of the recent newspaper stories about his use of a "pain-killer" back in the 1945 season. . . It wasn't a good idea, though, because Newhouser was very touchy about the subject. . . He left no doubt that he felt the writers did him an injustice. . . Said the Detroit papers headlined the story "Newhouser Uses Dope" and gave the impression that he was an addict or something. . . He compared his use of the "pain-killer" to the usual practice of getting a shot of novocaine from a dentist.

Trout made a big hit with the hunters. . . Good natured and full of fun, the big fellow has an amazing memory. . . He rattled off some amusing baseball experiences but denied the story about the origin of his nickname. . . He was supposed to have been playing in the outfield one day when it started to rain pretty hard. . . He headed full speed to try to get under an awning which was painted on a cement wall advertisement. . . Hence the nickname "Dizzy". . . "It's not true," Trout shouted.

Speaking of the Tigers, did you know (as Bill Dolan says) that Newhouser has his name in the all-time Detroit record book in four different places. . . His 29 wins in 1944 is tied only by Mullin of the 1909 Tigers, his 275 strikeouts in 1946 is a team record, his 1.81 earned run average in 1945 is the best ever, and his eight shutouts in 1945 is equalled only Killian in 1905.

College Presidents Looking Into Sports

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Seven college presidents who want to diagnose what ails sports are looking into everything from the firing of coaches to football bowl games.

The presidents are members of a special sports committee set up by the American council of education.

Their job: To find out what's wrong with inter-collegiate athletics and "recommend appropriate remedial measures."

Only one thing appeared certain today as they began their second day of work here—nothing sensational is apt to happen soon.

Chairman John A. Hannah of Michigan State college put it this way:

"It's perfectly evident that we're not in this session going to write the answers."

Weeks On Months

He figures the answers won't be ready for weeks — and maybe months.

The committee's meetings are closed, but Hannah holds a news conference after each session.

Here are a few of the subjects considered yesterday.

1. The recruiting of college athletes.

2. Post-season bowl games.

None of the members has said officially what he thinks of these games, but Hannah repeated what he said previously unofficially. He's 100 per cent against them.

3. Life expectancy of a coach.

Hannah said a coach feels that he must win in order to hold his job. "One possible way to correct this," he said, "is to give the coaches some security."

4. Gambling on college games.

Steps To Take

As Hannah sees it, the committee must take these steps:

It must learn exactly what the problems are, decide how they must be solved, then find some way to enforce the decisions.

"It's the enforcement that's the most difficult," Hannah told reporters. "But we're going to try to come up with some answers that will work. Of course, they won't work unless they're made effective."

Yesterday in New York, Judge Saul S. Streit gave five former college basketball players jail sentences and at the same time he blasted at college athletics in general.

Streit said that "athletes are bought and paid for," declared sports have drifted into a "shocking situation" and called on college presidents to assume direct control of intercollegiate athletics.

What did Hannah think of that? His only comment:

"It's another indication of the need for this committee."

Much Good In Sports

Dr. Hannah answered questions at length from reporters. He appeared to be talking freely.

Giving the college administrator's slant on the problem, he said:

"We realize we must be responsible for the total operation of the university. We have a real concern in the protection of the in-

Spartans Sight Perfect Season

EAST LANSING, Mich. — (AP) — "One game to win—and a lifetime to remember."

That has been Coach Biggie Munn's war cry as his Michigan State football team prepares for the final game of the season against Colorado.

The Spartans have a 14-game winning streak going in to the ninth and last game of the season. Indiana, edged 30-26 last Saturday, came dangerously close to an upset.

"We Won"

"But we won, didn't we?" Munn declared after the game. "That's what counts in the record books."

The last time Michigan State had an unbeaten season was in 1913 when the then Michigan Aggies were coached by the late John F. Macklin, who gave his name to Macklin stadium.

The Aggies beat both Michigan and Wisconsin by 12-7 scores that year. The other wins in the short seven game season were over Olivet, Alma, Buchtel, Mt. Union and South Dakota.

Ellis Duckett, Flint freshman back, suffered a bruised knee and wasn't able to report for practice Monday afternoon. Duckett is expected to be in shape for the windup of the season, however.

Fullback Wayne Benson, also bothered by a knee injury, was at practice but was excused early.

"They're Rough"

The offensive squad went outdoors and worked at signal drill on a field covered by a light scattering of snow.

The defensive unit practiced indoors, reviewing lessons learned earlier in the season on how to stop a single wing attack. The last opponent to use the single wing was Penn State. Since that time Pittsburgh, Notre Dame and Indiana all have thrown "T" formation attacks against the Spartans.

Colorado now has won seven of its nine games. The most recent victory was over Nebraska. The only teams to beat Colorado this season were Northwestern and Oklahoma.

Assistant Coach Steve Sebo, who scouted Colorado, warned that the game will be another where the Spartans will have to go all-out to win.

They're big and rough and tough," said Sebo. "They have some good backs and some excellent passers. They are a team that could cause anyone trouble."

Top Scorers

MONTREAL — (AP) — Maurice Richard and Elmer Lach of the Montreal Canadiens share the national hockey league's scoring lead for the fourth straight week today but Detroit's Gordie Howe is hard on their heels.

Richard and Lach, linemates, picked up a point each during the week to increase their respective totals to 16. Howe added four points to his record to move into third place with 14 points.

Lanky Al Rollins of Toronto is in the van for goal tending honors. He has permitted 28 goals in 17 games for a 1.65 mark.

Costly Fumbles

But the tide turned. Despite a 54-27 win, Michigan lost the ball three times on fumbles to Minnesota. In losing the next three games the Wolverines lost the ball three times against Illinois and twice each against Cornell and Northwestern.

Unless the Wolverines fall completely apart against Ohio State Saturday, they paradoxically will still have a better fumble record than any previous team in the last

At the present time it looks like the starting five will be Moreau at guard paired with Harold Goodyear, who is up from the reserves; Becker at center, and Beauchamp and LaPlant at forwards.

Bronco Lettermen

Others on the squad who may see action during the evening are Marmilick, Bonno, Don Timler, Norbert Boutillier, Tom LaLonde and Jerry Norrick.

The Broncos opened their season last Friday evening, dropping a thriller to Hermansville, 29-28. They are expected to start Dave Kwarciyan and Allan Schoen at forwards, Joe LaVigne at center, Jack Good and Ken Heim at guards. All are lettermen.

The team is coached by Paul Wiinikainen.

Tennessee Ousts Spartans From No. 1 Grid Position

NEW YORK — (AP) — Tennessee reclaimed No. 1 position in the Associated Press football poll today, pushing Michigan State back into the runner-up spot.

The Sugar bowl-bound Volunteers, who meet Kentucky Saturday in one of the top games of the day, received 60 of the 166 first-place votes cast by sports writers and broadcasters across the nation.

The Vols won their eighth straight game last week-end, smashing Mississippi, 46-21. Michigan State's Spartans, meanwhile, had a tight squeeze with battered Indiana before prevailing, 30-26.

Nip-and-Tuck

Tennessee and Michigan State have staged a nip-and-tuck battle for national honors from the very start of the campaign.

The Spartans led the first two weeks, California barged in for a single week on top and then Tennessee took over for a three-week reign. Michigan State shot to the front a week ago after a rousing 35-0 victory over Notre Dame.

The Spartans lost some lustre against Indiana and drew 38 first-place votes compared with 55 in the previous poll. They get another chance to impress the experts against Colorado Saturday.

There was no change in the personnel of the top ten, but the order of standings underwent a slight shakeup. Illinois, held to a scoreless tie by Ohio State, was the only member of the elite not to win its game.

Illini Drop

The fighting Illini tumbled from third to sixth place while Stanford and Maryland, impressive winners over formidable rivals, pushed to the front of contention.

Stanford leaped to third place on the strength of its 35-14 triumph over Oregon State. Maryland, already named as Tennessee's opponent in the Sugar bowl, smothered North Carolina State, 53-0, and won fourth place.

The Indians, apparently assured of a Rose bowl assignment, received 18 first place votes while Maryland collected 26. Both rated more than 1,000 points on the basis of ten points for a first place vote, nine for second, etc.

Stanford had a total of 1,193 and Maryland 1,167.

Princeton Moves Up

Princeton, working on football's longest current winning streak of 21 games, also moved up a notch, from sixth to fifth. Georgia Tech finished seventh and Wisconsin, Kentucky and Baylor held firm to their positions of 8-9-10.

Stanford's perfect record is threatened this week by the game in Palo Alto with California. Maryland closes with West Virginia Saturday.

Princeton plays Dartmouth, Illinois meets Northwestern. Georgia Tech clashes with Davidson. Wisconsin opposes Minnesota and Baylor faces Southern Methodist.

The top ten (with first place votes and season's records in parentheses):

Points

1. Tennessee (60) (8-0) 1348

2. Mich. State (38) (8-0) 1290

3. Stanford (18) (9-0) 1290

4. Maryland (26) (8-0) 1167

5. Princeton (8) (8-0) 802

6. Illinois (2) (7-0-1) 814

7. Georgia Tech (2) (8-0-1) 673

8. Wisconsin (3) (6-1-1) 442

9. Kentucky (4) (7-3) 339

10. Baylor (6-1-1) 339

The second ten:

11. Southern Calif. (7-2) 147

12. Oklahoma (6-2) 115

13. San Francisco (8-0) 107

14. Texas (7-2) 85

15. Virginia (1) (7-1) 39

16. Holy Cross (1) (7-1) 33

17. Washington State (6-3) 27

18. Rice (5-3) 22

19. California (7-2) 21

20. Bucknell (9-0) 18

Others receiving votes: Ohio State, Clemson, William & Mary, Georgia, Miami (Ohio) Xavier (Ohio), Texas Christian, Cornell, UCLA, Tulsa, Notre Dame, Southern Methodist, Duke.

Cotton Bowl Set For Another Year

DALLAS — (AP) — The Cotton bowl settled down to a "lets you and him fight routine today, its troubles all taken care of for another year. It has Kentucky as the visiting team and knows the host eleven is coming up—the winner of the southwest conference history.

The colorful wildcats from the Blue Grass country yesterday voted to accept the Cotton bowl's invitation and play the southwest conference champion in the sixteenth annual Dallas New Year's day classic.

The southwest conference race is a mess. It can be clarified Saturday but the champion can not be determined before Dec. 1. Texas as Christian and Rice are tied for first place with 3-1 record, Baylor is next with 2-1-1, followed by Texas with 3-2 and Southern Methodist with 1-2-1. Texas Christian, Rice, Baylor and Texas all can win the title, Southern Methodist could tie for first place.

NCAA Council Works On Overemphasis Of Collegiate Athletics

CHICAGO — (AP) — The NCAA council today prepared to draft a program for relieving pressures that create overemphasis of collegiate sports to present before its national convention in Cincinnati Jan. 9-12.

The policy-making group hopes that a 12-point reform code can be screened and classified thoroughly. Out of this process will come the proposal to be submitted at the convention.

Why every car needs HEET

When the Temperature Drops Below 32°

Whenever the temperature drops below 32 degrees, the condensed moisture in every gas tank often forms ice. This causes slow, hard starting and gas-line freeze-ups. HEET is scientifically engineered to absorb moisture in your gas tank. It prevents gas-line freezing, assures easier winter starting. HEET saves battery, reduces ping and knock, keeps fuel system, carburetor and jets clean, improves engine performance.

Do what millions of wise motorists now do. Have your garage or service station add HEET to your gas tank today—and everytime you buy gas this winter. Only 66¢. HEET Division, DeMert & Dougherty, Inc., Chicago 32.

Hugo Wants To Retire Week Before He Dies

By ROBERT C. RUARK

NEW YORK—Every time some surly waiter spills the soup onto the tablecloth and snarls gently at a request for the fork he forgot or the water he didn't bring; every time this obvious hater of his job of service looks the other way or conducts a loud argument over whose station the table belongs to; every time I feel like crowning this tip-hungry incompetent with the bus boy — then I mutter: "Whoa, lads, remember your friend Hugo Schemke." Then mayhem goes uncommitted. Then the blood pressure eases back to normal.

Once in a while, when the pressure of living too fast in New York seems likely to blow the boiler, I amble downtown to Luchow's, the old German restaurant that still dwells in the past. It is a past of grace and quiet courtesy, the past of Victor Herbert and the young Gish girls. I never know what I am eating in Luchow's, since I speak no German and take what they suggest that day. I do not go to Luchow's to eat. I go there, to stretch the nerves, and perchance, to listen to Hugo.

Hugo Likes People

Hugo is a peculiar man for these times. He is happy. He has been a waiter at Luchow's since 1905. He is pushing 73 now. He loves his work. He likes people. Hugo once was in love with a countess, and he still has an eye for the well-turned ankle. Hugo was rich, once, too, when everybody was rich during the '20's boom. He lost it, of course.

"But I never cared when I lost it," Hugo says. "I never lived out of my station, so when I lost it I didn't feel it. How can you lose what you never really had?"

Hugo believes he will be reincarnated, and when he comes back to earth again he has one desire: He wants to be a waiter, all over again. However, he says, could a man meet so many wonderful people otherwise? However, he says, could a man give so much pleasure to so many people as by seeing they are well fed?

Discourages Tips

Hugo is a student of astrology, and he can quote Schopenhauer at you, or Goethe, and he will casually refer to Ninon de L'Enclos in the same breath with a personal reference to Anna Held. When he conducts you to a table you feel, through the countly sweep of his arm, that you are a duke being led to table by the old family servant. Yet there is nothing seville in Hugo. I have heard him say: "I am a man of independent means. Do not bother about a tip."

The meal that Hugo brings you is the meal that Hugo himself would order that day, if he were sitting at the table with a lovely lady, just prior to a spin down the avenue with a coach and four. The way in which he brings it to you is indicative of the fact that he has the entire day to spend in seeing that you are made happy.

Hugo's gentle, white-haired countenance is mildly sad when he contemplates the rush, the fevered pace, of living today. He is the merest touch impatient with an age that dashes madly off in no particular direction. He is intolerant of his younger associates in the waiting trade. "They are not gracious," he says. "They are just in a hurry, and crazy for tips. They take no pride in their craft."

"A waiter," he says, "is a special man. He can make your day or spoil your day by the way he serves you. When I go out to dine, myself, I do not wish to have my evening ruined by some young fool

Communist Goal Is To Liquidate Anti-Reds

SRINAGAR, Kashmir—(AP)—The Communist regime in West China's Sinkiang province announced in an official broadcast monitored here that all anti-Red forces in the area would be "totally liquidated" by the end of 1951.

"When we have cleared the country of the enemies," declared Sinkiang commanding General Wang Chin, "the new government can proceed with a program of land reforms."

who is only in a hurry to collect his tip and get off the job. A waiter has an obligation to his guest. You do not see that often today."

We Think Too Much

Hugo says the trouble with us today is we think too much, harass the brain too much.

"When you become too intellectual," he says, "you lose intelligence. Intelligence is inside the man. Intellect is falsely acquired. One kills the other."

Hugo says he feels fine, at 72-plus, and that he regrets no single instance of his life. He does, however, hope some day to retire.

"I intend to retire," Hugo says. "Exactly one week before I die."

Rapid River

Mrs. Bessie Winde is making her home with Mrs. Esther Caswell for the winter months.

Henry Bedard of Detroit visited last week at the home of his sister and family, Mrs. Leslie Hamilton.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Lagerquist are cooking for the Cassopolis Club at their headquarters north of Rapid River.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Nelson and baby from Winston Salem, N. C., arrived several days ago to visit relatives. Carl also came for the hunting season.

Judy and Dell Jean Lagerquist are staying with their aunt, Mrs. John Lind during their parents' absence.

Mrs. Frank Thill and granddaughter, Jeanne Thill of Fayette visited Thursday at the Leslie Caswell home.

Mrs. W. J. Carnes of Battle Creek arrived Saturday to spend several days with her daughter, Mrs. Ray Barney and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Cleve Raymond, Mr. and Mrs. Enis LaPrad and Mr. and Mrs. Mike Lentz, all of Monroe, Michigan are spending the deer season at the Raymond cabin located at Ensign. Mr. Raymond was successful on the first day of the season downing a nice five-point buck in the afternoon.

Joe Casimir got his buck the first day of the season — a big eight-point.

E. Schafer, Jim Hinkson of Escanaba, Alfred Paul and son Larry, are hunting from the Paul cabin on the Stonington Peninsula. So far no success has been reported.

Mrs. Reuben Paul is ill at her home in Masonville. Her daughters, Lavina Bennett of Nahma and Gertrude Metz of Detroit are with her.

Miss Signe Brannstrom of Elma Center, Wis., and Truman Scopolio of Hixton, Wis., returned to their homes after a several days visit at the Eddie Johnson home.

Eugene Johnson returned Thursday to Davisville, Rhode Island after spending a week at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Johnson. He recently completed builders' training and has reported to Davisville for further orders.

Sam Boyer is reported to have filled his license the first day of the hunting season.

Mrs. Frank Nygren, Mrs. Sandy Short and Mrs. Ned Short attended the leaders training session on "Legal Phases of the Home" held at the Gladstone City hall Wednesday. Atty. Clyde McGonagle was the speaker of the afternoon.

Alabama's B-team, made up of freshmen and reserves, will face five Southeastern conference opponents. The foes are LSU, Georgia, Georgia Tech, Auburn and Vanderbilt.
